Coronavirus Disease 2019, or COVID-19, is an infectious disease caused by the recently found virus known as SARS-CoV-2 (severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2). It is not the same as the other coronaviruses that commonly circulate among humans and cause mild illness, like the common cold. On 11th March, 2020 the COVID-19 outbreak across the globe was classified as a pandemic.

The main way the virus is thought to spread is through close contact from person-to-person through respiratory droplets produced when a person infected with the disease coughs, sneezes, talks or breaths. People with COVID-19 have a wide range of illnesses reported, ranging from mild symptoms to severe illness and death. Symptoms may appear 2-14 days after exposure to the virus.
