1. Introduction:-

a) About College

M.V.P samajs S.V.K.T College Dolali Camp is multidisciplinary college. It was in the year 1984 considering the need of educational institute at Deolali Camp area, The College was established as there were students from around 45 remote villages who were deprived from education especially the girls. The College has been awarded with grade 'A' by NAAC during the second cycle of Assessment and Reaccreditation. It has taken many safety measures for girl students resulting into having more than 70% girl students. It runs Undergraduate as well as Post-graduate Programmes. Along with the Conventional Programmes the college has also been approved Skill based courses under B.Voc and Community College by UGC (NSQF). The College has an approved Study Centre for Distance Education, affiliated to Yashwantrao Chavan Open University. Now the college is planning to start few more PG Programmes as well as Research Centres in few subjects. Apart from the educational services the college has been known for providing many cocurricular and extra-curricular facilities to students. As a reward to the attempts made by the college in tree plantation by going beyond the campus, the college has been bestowed with Vanashree Puraskar by the Government of Maharashtra. Our Department of Botany made nursery of native forest plant species in which 25 thousand plantlets of 22 forest plant species were developed. The samplings were distributed among students, staff, Grampanchyats, government offices, various organisations, schools, colleges, Ashram schools and rotary club free of cost as social responsibility for conservation of nature and natural resources.

b) About Anjaneri hill:-

High altitude plateaux are found throughout northern Western Ghats. These plateaux harbor a great diversity of monsoon flora and endemism but are highly neglected due to the seasonality and harsh climatic conditions. Anjaneri Hill is an important rock outcrop in northern Western Ghats. It is the type locality of Ceropegia anjanerica. As an attempt to make a floristic inventory of an important area, a preliminary study was undertaken. A total of 385 flowering plants from 68 families have been reported from Anjaneri protected area in the present study, of these 114 are endemics. Out of these 114 species, 81 are endemic to India while 33 taxa are endemic to the Western Ghats. Anjaneri rock outcrop shows great floral diversity due to varied microhabitats. The observations on phenology and adaptive traits were recorded. The data on geology and geomorphology is presented in order to understand the geological nature of the rock outcrop. Intensive study on varied microhabitat is needed for the documentation of floral diversity existing on the Anjaneri Hill.

c) About Maharashtra state forest Department: -

Globally as well as nationally, Forest Conservation is increasingly being viewed as a powerful instrument in sequestering carbon and thereby offset adverse climate change. Maharashtra Forest Department, being custodian of the State's rich and diverse bio-diversity, is committed to a conservation-centric management and protection strategy. Blood Donation Report 2023-24

On September 9, 2023, SVKT College successfully organized a blood donation drive in partnership with MVP Samaj's Dr. Vasantao Pawar Medical Hospital. Noteworthy participants included Cadet Viraj Sonawane and Lt. P.C. Gangurde, ANO from NCC unit of the college who made significant contributions by donating blood.

The objective of the blood donation drive was to address the urgent need for blood supplies in local hospitals, particularly in light of increasing demand for transfusions due to various medical conditions and emergencies. The event also sought to raise awareness about the importance of blood donation and its impact on saving lives. Coordinators from both SVKT College and Dr. Vasantao Pawar Medical Hospital managed the event logistics, including donor registration, health screening, and post-donation care. The blood donation drive commenced smoothly with medical staff from Dr. Vasantao Pawar Medical Hospital overseeing the donation process. GANESH IDOL COLLECTION 2023-24

Every year our college organises the collection of lords Ganesha idols with the guidance and support of 7 Maharashtra BN, NCC Nashik and Dr. S. S. Kale Principal of the college. This Year also, on the auspicious occasion of Anant Chaturdashi date- 28/09/2023, a significant festival in Hindu tradition marking the conclusion of Ganesh Chaturthi, NCC cadets from SVKT College undertook a commendable initiative to combat water pollution. The event, held at the Waldevi River coast, focused on the collection and proper disposal of Ganesh idols to prevent environmental degradation and promote ecological sustainability. The primary objective of the event was to mitigate the adverse effects of water pollution caused by the immersion of Ganesh idols made from non-biodegradable materials. By collecting these idols, the NCC cadets aimed to protect the water quality of the Waldevi River and foster a greater awareness of environmental conservation among the community. On the day of Anant Chaturdashi, a dedicated team of NCC cadets stationed themselves along the Waldevi River coast. They set up collection points where community members could bring their Ganesh idols. The cadets, equipped with protective gear and collection bins, facilitated the process with efficiency and care. Collected idols were sorted based on their materials—traditional clay idols were set aside for natural decomposition, while those made from plaster of Paris and other synthetic materials were transported to designated recycling centers of Nashik MNC. This step ensured that non-biodegradable waste was handled appropriately, minimizing its impact on the environment. The initiative saw active participation from local leaders and residents, who responded positively to the cadets' efforts. The community's cooperation was instrumental in the success of the collection drive.

The initiative by Lt. P. C. Gangurde ANO and NCC cadets from SVKT College on Anant Chaturdashi at the Waldevi River coast was a resounding success. It highlighted the crucial role of community involvement and proactive measures in addressing environmental issues. The cadets' dedication to preventing water pollution through the collection and proper disposal of Ganesh idols serves as an exemplary model for future environmental conservation efforts.

The NCC cadets extend their heartfelt gratitude to the local community, volunteers, and college authorities for their invaluable support and cooperation. Special thanks are due to the environmental organizations and recycling centers that assisted in the disposal process.

This initiative was a collaborative effort involving the Deolali Cantonment Board, the Health Department, and the NCC Cadets from SVKT College. The primary aim of this event was to enhance the sanitation and hygiene standards within the cantonment area, promoting a cleaner and healthier environment for all. The main objectives of the cleanliness activity were: To improve the overall cleanliness and sanitation of the Deolali Cantonment Area. To foster a spirit of community service and environmental responsibility among participants. To raise awareness about the importance of proper waste management and cleanliness.

On the day of the event, teams of NCC Cadets of SVKT college alongside staff from the Deolali Cantonment Board and Health Department, were deployed to various locations within the cantonment area. The teams were equipped with gloves, trash bags, brooms, and other cleaning tools. The focus was on several critical areas, including streets, public parks, and open spaces. Activities included litter picking, sweeping, and the removal of debris and waste. The NCC Cadets played a vital role in mobilizing community members, guiding them through the cleaning process, and ensuring that all areas were covered efficiently.

Waste collected during the drive was sorted into recyclable and non-recyclable categories. This sorting was crucial for effective waste management and reducing environmental impact. The Deolali Cantonment Board facilitated the transportation of waste to appropriate disposal and recycling facilities, ensuring that hazardous materials were handled with care.

Dr. S. S. Kale Principal of SVKT College stated that in his concluding speech to build the success of this event and ensure long-term improvements everyone should implement periodic cleanliness drives to maintain the improvements and address any emerging sanitation issues. Invest in better waste management infrastructure, including increased recycling facilities and efficient waste collection methods.

For the success of this cleanliness activity SVKT college staff, cantonment board officers, staffs, students and local citizens were present.
